

Your outsourcing strategy:

Ensuring readiness to execute in the era of innovation

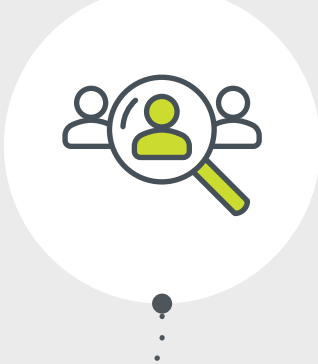

FULL-SERVICE OUTSOURCING BESPOKE, BLENDED OUTSOURCING MODELS FUNCTIONAL SERVICE PROVIDER (FSP)

A shift toward more blended full-service and functional service provider outsourcing models is anticipated over the next several years.

Parexel’s deep expertise helps you establish a successful outsourcing strategy and excel in the following key mandates:

Oversight

Balance the amount of direct day-to-day oversight, shared risk and governance based on client needs.

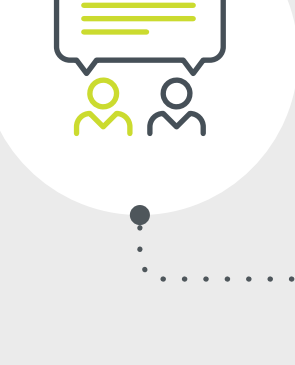

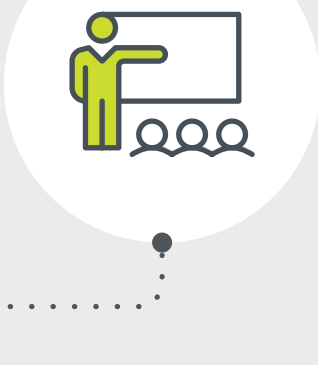

Resource Pool

Maintain a rapidly adjustable work volume with access to the right resources, talent and technologies when and where needed.

Training

Develop expert staff and programs to recruit, train and retain a new generation of specialists capable of handling increasingly nuanced trials.

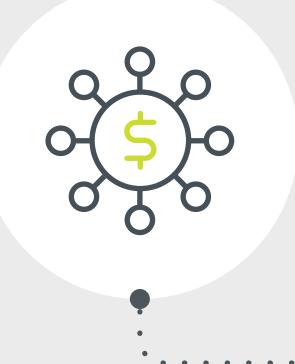

Local Knowledge

Leverage local expertise in a single country or region to help accelerate study start-up and site activations and better position the study for success.

Indication Expertise

Tap into additional therapeutic and indication-specific expertise through outsourcing models.

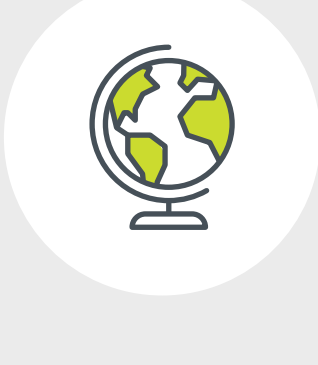

Cost Model

Leverage various FSP approaches for flexibility in pricing, oversight, shared risk and governance.

Geographical Diversification

Develop a balanced location strategy to access diverse patient populations, while integrating expertise across various functions, therapeutic areas and study designs.

“The one-size-fits-all outsourcing model doesn’t work for today’s sponsors. That’s why we innovate and adapt to your evolving drug development needs—both now and in the future.”

»»» Hina Saleem
Executive Director
Clinical Operations at Parexel

Are you ready to take your outsourcing strategy to the next level?

Parexel is here to guide you through this journey.
Parexel's FSP delivery models offer a tailored approach, backed by deep expertise, to help you achieve your organizational goals.
Learn how we can partner with you for success.

FUTURE-PROOF YOUR STRATEGY ➤

parexel®

Parexel is a leading global clinical research organization with over 21,000 professionals, providing comprehensive Phase I-IV clinical development services. With 40 years of experience, we partner with biopharmaceutical companies to design and deliver efficient clinical trials that prioritize patient access and participation. Our commitment to operational excellence and patient-centered approach has earned us multiple industry awards, including “Best Contract Research Organization” in 2023.